

JENNER DEFENDS MCCARTHY FROM CENSURE

Sens. McCarthy, Watkins Clash On Peress Case

In Dispute Over Who Promoted Former Army Major

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) told Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today that the files of McCarthy's own investigating subcommittee contain the answer to "who promoted Peress?"

As Watkins spoke, McCarthy held in his hand a document stamped in red "CONFIDENTIAL" which was apparently the material to which Watkins referred.

Watkins told McCarthy that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens furnished a list of 30 names, "beginning with a general" to the Army-McCarthy investigation last spring and asked that the document be kept confidential.

Watkins said the list "contained all the names of those who had anything to do with the promotion and honorable discharge of former Army Maj. Irving Peress, who McCarthy has called a 'Fifth Amendment Communist.'"

Says Wasting Time
McCarthy promptly told Watkins he was "wasting" his subcommittee's time.

At one point, McCarthy declared that Watkins was "derelict in his duty" as a senator.

Watkins replied that McCarthy would never be satisfied in the Peress case until "someone was shot or hung"—regardless of the facts of the case.

The exchange came after Watkins testified that he could not say whether someone should be blamed for Peress' promotion. He said that would depend on the circumstances.

Hearing Is Open
Watkins gave the testimony at a public hearing before McCarthy's investigating subcommittee. The hearing first was scheduled to be opened at 9 a. m. Then it was rescheduled as a closed session at 10 a. m. and then finally opened to the public.

Watkins said McCarthy got possession of the Peress promotion list so that he only has to call in the officers named for questioning. He said Stevens promised to do his best to make the officers available as witnesses.

McCarthy retorted, "we're wasting time," and said the list was not what he wanted.

McCarthy invited the Utah Republican to testify on a statement in the censure report that McCarthy should not have blamed Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker for the promotion and honorable discharge of Irving Peress, an Army dentist whom McCarthy called a "fifth amendment Communist."

The Wisconsin Republican said this indicated Watkins knew who was responsible, if Zwicker was not. And he said this is information he has been trying to get for months.

Deaf Mute Fatally Injured by Auto

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A 69-year-old deaf mute was killed early Sunday when he walked into the path of an automobile.

The victim was Robert L. Gilliam. He was struck by a car driven by former Du Quoin City Commissioner Frank Eichhorn who said he was unable to stop in time when Gilliam stepped in front of his car on U. S. 51 in the adjacent village of St. John.

Oscar Underwood, who was with Gilliam, said he tried unsuccessfully to pull him from the auto's path.

Eldorado Firm Is Burglarized

The Eldorado Grain company was entered some time Sunday night and approximately $100 taken, Deputy Sheriff Isam Threest reported today. Threest and Deputy Henry Devar investigated the break-in.

It is said a window was broken, the thieves then reached through and unlatched the window, gaining entrance to the office. Keys to a filing cabinet were found and inside the cabinet were two cigar boxes. One contained only pennies and the other various silver coins. It is estimated the two boxes contained $100. Nothing else was taken, Deputy Threest said.

Motorist Fined

Failure to pay five 50 cent parking tickets cost a local motorist a total of $21.40 in Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie's court.

The motorist was charged with failure to obey the parking ordinance and fined a total of $16.40, plus $1 cost on each of the five parking tickets. One was dated in January, it is reported.

Ike Surprises Mamie with Birthday Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—A certain Washington lady has celebrated her birthday just like you and me, except—

The guests at her surprise birthday party were Cabinet members. The pastor of her church wished her best wishes from the pulpit, and she blew out the candles on her birthday cake in a room in the White House.

The certain Washington lady is, of course, Mrs. Eisenhower.

Her husband, in the manner of all husbands, cut short a hunting trip to come home and congratulate the little woman with a big kiss.

It's probably unchivalrous to say so, but Mamie Eisenhower is now 58 years old—even if she didn't look it as she waved to the crowd on her way home from church Sunday.

It was the President of the United States who engineered the Washington festivities for his wife. He flew back from Ohio—and from more ducks he could have shot—to be host at the surprise party for "my Mamie."

And it's reported she was really surprised.

String Cables For Suspension Pipeline Bridge

GRAND TOWER, Ill. (AP)—Workmen have begun stringing cables across the Mississippi River near here for what is believed to be the only suspension bridge for a pipeline in the world.

The cables will carry two 30-inch pipelines across the river for the Texas Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Co. Construction of the bridge began last June and is expected to be completed in April, 1955.

Two 246-foot towers which will support the pipeline have been completed on the Illinois and Missouri banks of the river. The Missouri tower rests on a base sunk 151 feet into the ground.

The bridge caterspan is 2,150 feet and the pipeline will be 100 feet above the river's high water level when the bridge is complete.

Barring bad weather, workmen expected to string the cables in three weeks. Then 80-foot sections of pipe will be moved onto steel beams hung from the cables and the pipe sections will be joined together.

The pipeline will drop straight down from each tower to a special connection with the underground gas pipeline.

Reports Given At Meeting of Red Cross Board

The Saline County Board of Directors of the American Red Cross met Nov. 10 at Schnierle's cafe. Bruce Burnett, chapter chairman, introduced Rev. Carl Hanvey who is the newly appointed blood chairman for Carrier Mills and vicinity.

The bloodmobile will be in Harrisburg on Friday, Dec. 17 and in Carrier Mills on Dec. 18.

The report of the audit for the fiscal year of July 1, 1953, through June 1954, was read by the treasurer, Herman Lambert. Mr. Lambert also submitted an estimated budget for the approval of the board for the coming year beginning July 1955. The fund drive goal is set in March on the basis of the chapter needs for the coming year.

The need for nurse's aides in Saline county was discussed and tabled until the cost of such a program could be determined. Mrs. L. B. Kimmel explained the nurse's aide program to the board members.

A report of the sectional blood program meeting held at the American Legion Home in Harrisburg on Oct. 25 was given by Russell Malan.

This is Junior Red Cross month and Guy Hunter sent his report to the meeting that all schools had their supplies for enrollment in JRC. Mr. Hunter also reported that the JRC members at the Junior high school under the direction of Mrs. Bauman had made 100 nut cups and 100 favors for Halloween which were sent to the VA hospital at Danville.

A vote of thanks was given to the members of the Saline County Medical society who contributed recently to the county blood program fund to help meet the deficit for the present year.

King and Queen Crowned at Carrier Mills Homecoming

Gloria Williams and Bill Morse were crowned Queen and King of the Carrier Mills high school homecoming Saturday night, to climax another successful affair.

The coronation ceremonies were held about 11:30 Saturday night, during the homecoming dance, held in the school gymnasium.

Homecoming activities got underway Thursday night with a bonfire, pep rally and snake dance, then Saturday was a full day.

A big parade containing 42 units, started promptly at 2 p. m., there were two basketball games, Carrier Mills taking two decisions from Rosiclare, then the dance and coronations.

Parade entry by the class of 1951 was selected for top honors. It had to be seen and heard to be appreciated. Not elaborately decorated, it was outstanding in a different way.

It was a takeoff on Dragnet, Chicago gangsters or something along that line. Four as "tough" looking characters as one could imagine were in a long, black sedan. With a loud speaker predicting all sorts of evil things for Rosiclare, the men had shotguns and rifles very much in evidence and a sign on the car threatened to take Rosiclare for a gangland ride. The "toughs" were Frank Blackman, Cordell Hull, Bill Melven and Fred Harris.

The class of 1957's guillotine took second place and the graveyard for "Bears," name of the Rosiclare team, entered by the class of 1955, was judged third.

The parade was led by parade marshal Joyce Harrowood, on horseback, followed by the Shriners car, then the city fire truck and next was the high school band.

In open convertibles were the queen and king candidates and attendants.

Freshman attendants were Diane Lightfoot and Larry Edwards; sophomores Janice Harrowood and Jackie Dorris; juniors Carolyn Holmes and Pete Harris, and senior queen and king candidates, Carol Felty and Gloria Williams and Bill Morse and Dick Santy.

The "old timers," those attending school before Carrier Mills became a four-year school in 1928, had a dinner reunion with approximately 130 in attendance.

The group also presented a jigsaw to the school's industrial arts department, in a brief pre-game ceremony.

Seal Mine Where 15 Men Trapped By Explosion

Fire Chokes Off Attempt to Bring Out Bodies; One Other Dead

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Grief-stricken families of 15 men entombed by an explosion at the Jamison Coal & Coke Co. No. 9 mine kept a lonely vigil today waiting for a raging underground fire to be choked off so rescue squads can bring out the bodies of the victims.

All five entrances to the large mine, which recently had undergone a 4 million-dollar remodeling to make it safe, were sealed off Sunday after state and federal mine officials and the United Mine Workers union decided it was not safe to send additional rescue squads into the pit.

The 15 men, all maintenance workers, were trapped in the mine when an explosion, believed to have been caused by an accumulation of methane gas, belched black smoke and flames into the sky through the main portal and a fan house Saturday afternoon.

Howard Jenkins, a 38-year old father of four children, was the first known victim. He was killed while standing in the fan house. The 16 deaths made it the worst mining disaster in West Virginia in 10 years.

May Take Month
Officials said it may take days or even as long as a month for the fire to be extinguished by shutting off the air, depending on how big the fire is and how much air already is in the mine.

They will keep a constant check on the atmosphere in the mine by taking air samples at various bore holes to see when it will be safe to crack the concrete seals.

A big crane was used to lower fabricated steel plates over the top of the ventilating and hoisting shaft at the portal. They were sealed tight with concrete. The main slope was covered with earth.

Two rescue squads went into the pit through the tipple entrance four hours after the blast but were driven back after penetrating about one-quarter mile when their oxygen supply ran out. Two reserve teams went back into the smoking and flaming hole Saturday night but rescue operations were called off because of a buildup of gases.

Two More Blasts
No sooner were the operations halted than two more blasts rocked the mine, sending flames high into the air above the main portal. A fourth explosion occurred at 6 p. m. Sunday.

U. M. W. President John L. Lewis, who flew here from Washington, said he "fully understood" the necessity for sealing off the mine. Lewis promised to cut red tape in providing relief to the miners' dependents.

The 12 married victims left a total of 17 children under 16 years of age.

The death toll was kept down by the fact that mining operations normally are curtailed for the week end. About 200 men are employed on a regular shift.

C. C. Ozment, Former Resident of Stonefort, Dies in New Mexico

C. C. Ozment, former resident of Stonefort and Johnston City, died Sunday at his home in Las Cruces, N. M.

He was a brother of the late C. B. Ozment of Stonefort and of the late Marshall Ozment of Johnston City.

The funeral and burial will be in Las Cruces.

Edw. Steinsultz, 78, Dies; Funeral Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Edward Steinsultz, 78, retired, who resided in the Pickford apartments, died at 2:05 a. m. Sunday at Lighthouse hospital. His body is at the Turner funeral home, where the funeral service will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Joe Norman, pastor of the First Baptist church, will conduct the service and burial will be at Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Steinsultz was a widower, and is survived by two brothers, Cyrus Steinsultz, Harrisburg, and Ira Steinsultz, Detroit, Mich., and by six sisters, Mrs. Grace Busse, Mrs. Everett (Josie) Sneed, Mrs. Effie Armistead and Mrs. Cora Naugle, Harrisburg, Mrs. Ella Rabin, Carmi, and Mrs. Ora Brown, who lives in California.

He was the father of eleven children, who also survive, along with 31 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

The children are: Mrs. Pearl Hatcher, Galatia, Mrs. Muri Yearker, and Rex Steinsultz, Evansville, Ind., Ralph Noble, and Ernest Steinsultz, Harrisburg, Mrs. Edna Ulrich, Mrs. Veta Boren and Mrs. Detrus Robinson, Hammond, Ind., Kern Steinsultz, Detroit, and Eugene Steinsultz, Chicago.

In January 1856, Ebon purchased 80 acres and Robert purchased 40 acres of swamp land from John M. Burnett, Saline county drainage commissioner. Ebon gave a mortgage for $65.65 and Robert gave a mortgage for $20 for the purchase price. Neither of the brothers paid for the land, and in 1850, Green P. Baum, who had succeeded Burnett as drainage commissioner, foreclosed on the lands purchased by the Ingersolls. They had by that time moved to Peoria.

At the November 1857 term of the Circuit court, Ebon represented 19 clients out of 23 cases tried. In June of the next year, after he had moved to Peoria, Jo Robinson, pioneer Saline county, secured a judgment against him in the amount of $75.92.

In April 1860, Robert G. Ingersoll was indicted by a Saline county grand jury for making an unlawful assault on one William Griffith with a knife. The facts seem to be that Ingersoll, Griffith, and others were in Jarvis Pearce's store, which stood where Jackson's Drug store now stands in Harrisburg, and out of an argument Bob Ingersoll seized a cheese knife and chased Griffith across the public square. Ingersoll went to the war on the side of the North and the case was finally dismissed.

Eisenhower Sends Pacts To Rearm West Germany To Special Senate Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent to the Senate today agreements to rearm and restore the sovereignty of West Germany to aid "the cause of peace and freedom in the world as a whole."

The pacts would bring 500,000 West German troops into the Allied stand against communism and make the former enemy nation a partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mr. Eisenhower said the pacts were drawn to align West Germany with the Allied nations in manner to insure freedom and equality for Germans and avoid the "danger of a revival of German militarism."

Mr. Eisenhower sent the pacts to the Senate and a special message at the same time as the Soviet Union was exerting efforts to stall action on German rearmament.

Russia has called for an all Europe peace conference—a call certain to be rejected by the Allies until at least the German pacts are ratified by the Allies.

In London, representatives of the United States, Britain and France agreed to meet to discuss an answer to the Russian invitation, but first authoritative indications from Western capitals were that the invitation would be rejected.

Mr. Eisenhower sent the documents to the special session of the Senate with a hope they will be studied by the Foreign Relations Committee and then ratified promptly when the new session meets in January.

"I know the Senate is aware of the very great importance of these agreements to the security of the United States and to the cause of peace and freedom in the world as a whole," he said.

Democrats May Probe Other Power Deals
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats may dig into other administration power deals when they launch their promised investigation of the Dixon-Yates contract in the next Congress, it was learned today.

A key Democrat said the inquiry may embrace Atomic Energy Commission contracts with Electric Energy, Inc., and the Ohio Valley Electric Corp. Both are private power groups supplying AEC installations.

Administration spokesmen justified some of the terms of the Dixon-Yates agreements during hearings before the congressional Atomic Energy Committee last week by citing the precedents of the other two agreements. Democrats were understood to believe they can show that these contracts, too, have had bad features.

The promised "ventilation" of the Dixon-Yates contract was announced by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.). It is expected to be entrusted to the congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

Vote Along Party Lines
The committee voted 10 to 8 along party lines Saturday to let the administration move quickly ahead with the plan. But Democrats will have the 10 votes when the new Congress convenes. And an outspoken critic of the contract, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) is expected to be committee chairman.

With the committee's speed-up order Saturday, only the approval of financing arrangements by the Securities and Exchange Commission now is holding up action on the Dixon-Yates project. The utility group is expected to ask SEC approval this week, but hearings will almost certainly be ordered.

Under the contract the Dixon-Yates group—Middle South Utilities Inc. and the Southern Co.—will build a 6,000-kilowatt steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., and sell the power to the AEC. The power would be supplied to the Tennessee Valley Authority at Memphis to replace power supplied by TVA to AEC installations elsewhere.

Johnson County Farmer, Former Cypress Bank President, Dies

Cal Casper, 82, well-known Johnson county farmer living west of Belknap, died Saturday at 5 p. m. He was a former president of the Farmers' and Merchants' State bank at Cypress.

Wounded in Arm While Hunting

William Jerdon, 40, Galatia resident, received a compound fracture of the left upper arm yesterday afternoon when he was shot when his gun accidentally discharged while on a hunting trip.

Mr. Jerdon, who had been hunting, had returned to his car and had placed the gun on the running board while he was talking to Ralph Furlong of Galatia RFD. The gun slipped from the running board and accidentally discharged, seriously wounding Jerdon in the arm. He was taken to the Ferrell hospital in Eldorado where it is believed his arm can be saved.

Furlong was struck in the eye and received treatment in Harrisburg for the injury.

Mrs. L. G. Sullins Dies at Ozark

Mrs. Nancy Sullins, widow of the late L. G. Sullins, died at her home at Ozark today at 7:05 a. m. of infirmities of old age. She passed her 83rd birthday last Friday.

She was the mother of George Sullins and Mrs. Eva Rushing, both of Ozark.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1 p. m. at the Ozark Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. Freddie Neibel officiating assisted by the Rev. L. G. Hartley. Burial will be in the Reynoldsburg cemetery near Ozark. Her body is at present at the Thornton funeral home in Stonefort but will be returned to her residence Tuesday afternoon where it will remain until time of the funeral.

Case Withdraws Censure Support On One Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Francis E. Case (R-D.), a member of the Senate's Special Censure Committee, today formally withdrew his support for one of the two counts on which the committee recommended censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Case announced his switch in a letter to Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the censure committee. It was made public shortly after Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) had urged the Senate to shelve the committee recommendations.

Case was one of six members of the bi-partisan committee which recommended unanimously that McCarthy be censured for his attitude toward a 1951-52 Senate elections subcommittee and for his treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

The South Dakotan's letter said he would not vote in the Senate for the count against McCarthy in connection with the Zwicker incident.

Says Special Group Failed to Study Evidence

Efforts Underway For Compromise To Soften Censure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William E. Jenner said today the Senate can not vote on the censure recommendations against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy because the special committee which drafted them failed to consider all the evidence.

Likening the special committee to a grand jury, the Indiana Republican told the Senate that the committee "did not consider the question assigned and did not bring in a true bill."

Jenner, who heads the Internal Security Subcommittee, said the special censure group ignored the "all important" evidence that McCarthy was fighting a "conspiracy."

Jenner was the first speaker as the Senate resumed consideration of the censure charges against the Wisconsin Republican. Efforts were being made to find a compromise solution. But Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland said the outcome of such efforts would depend on what he called the future "atmosphere" of the debate.

Shouts His Defense
Jenner waved his arms and his voice rose to a shout at times as he defended McCarthy. He accused the McCarthy "grand jury" of "ignoring the fact that a conspiracy exists against him."

In his remarks on the censure committee, headed by Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah), Jenner also declared that "no authority exists in the Constitution to put limits on the opinions of a senator unless the Senate is prepared to expel him."

One senator, who has been a leader in the compromise efforts, said a formula had been developed this weekend but that support for it had shrunk today. He blamed McCarthy's Saturday night blast at Watkins, in an interview at Milwaukee, for the loss of support.

The proposed substitute was said to call for (1) rebuking McCarthy for some of his "extreme" statements, (2) praising him for "alerting the country" to the Communist danger, and (3) calling for early action next year on proposed Senate rule changes governing investigating committees.

Would Soften Censure
McCarthy supporters and some other senators have been seeking a formula to soften the censure resolution which came from a special Senate committee appointed last summer to review the charges against McCarthy.

Earlier Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) assailed the idea of a censure compromise. He declared "the public will not be satisfied with anything other than a clean-cut decision."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland revealed in an interview today that the GOP leadership will not sponsor any compromise. "This will not be a party matter on either side of the aisle," he said.

DREW PEARSON Says: Another National Forest May Go To Private Exploitation; Supreme Court Appointee Comes From Crusading Background; Air Force Is Worried About Ike Nonchalant Attitude Toward B-29 Incident.

WASHINGTON. — Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay isn't the only member of Ike's cabinet who seems interested in granting commercial concessions in our national forests.

Another is Ezra Benson. As secretary of agriculture, Benson is head of the Forest Service; and, if he followed tradition, he wouldn't interfere with decisions of career national foresters. But he has broken the time-honored practice of his office and refused to accept a forest-service veto of an application to strip mine in the Cumberland National Forest in Kentucky.

Benson has been warned that not only would lovely forestland be made barren if he overrules the forest service and allows strip mining, but the unpolluted watersheds would be filled with poisonous by-products of the surface coal mining. Also, Benson has been told, the land will be disfigured and made worthless by erosion if the trees are cut down.

Benson hasn't made his final decision yet. Says he wants to appoint a committee to decide whether to submit to the wishes of Stearns, Ky. and Lumber Co. of Stearns, Ky. This makes him the first secretary of agriculture in history to refuse to back up the forest service.

Four Survive, Three Lost in Plane Crashes

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Four survivors of a Navy patrol plane that crashed off the North Carolina coast were plucked from the water today but a fifth man perished and two members of a search crew were missing.

A coast guard seaplane landed on the water and rescued four of the Navy plane's crew who had managed to get aboard their life raft. They were spotted in the cold gray morning mist, floating on Pamlico sound northwest of barren Ocracoke Island.

The survivors reported that the fifth crewman went down with the plane.

The PV2, a twin-engined seaplane, was on a flight from Miami to the Anacostia, Md., naval air station when it radioed that it would attempt a forced landing at sea 30 miles off Cape Lookout, N. C.

There was no word from an F3D fighter plane from the nearby Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Air Station which was diverted to search for the PV2 while on a routine training flight. The fighter, carrying a two-man crew, was listed as missing.

Supporters of McCarthy Seek 10 Million Names

NEW YORK (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy opened a 10-day drive today for 10 million signatures on petitions urging the U. S. Senate to reject censure charges against the Wisconsin Republican.

The drive was announced Sunday by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer (ret), chairman of a newly-formed group called "Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice."

The organization, which Stratemeyer said was formed on a "non-political and non-partisan" basis, includes as Vice Chairman Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former United Nations commander in Korea; Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Argentina; Mrs. Grace L. H. Brosseau, president of the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies; and Charles Edison, former Navy secretary and governor of New Jersey.

The petitions, addressed to the Senate, charged that "subversive elements" are out to destroy McCarthy. A "mistaken and unjust decision" could help the Soviets and endanger the safety of the United States, the appeal says.

Court.

His grandfather, appointed to the Supreme Court in 1877, was a Kentuckian, who owned slaves himself, but battled for the cause of the Negro both as a member of the Union Army and on the Supreme Court.

It was Justice Harlan who wrote the ringing dissent in the first segregation case to come before the court after the Civil War, a case which marked the death of the Fourteenth Amendment as far as Negroes were concerned — until just recently.

That case — U. S. vs. Harris — was decided in 1883. Congress had passed an act authored by Senator Sumner of Massachusetts giving equal privileges to Negroes in "inns, public conveyances and theatres." But a majority of the court, though then dominated by northerners, held the act unconstitutional. It buried the Fourteenth Amendment for 70 years, and a northerner, Justice Bradley of New Jersey, wrote the majority opinion.

And it was a former slave owner, Justice Harlan of Kentucky, who wrote a burning dissent against his northern colleagues who had fought a war to free the Negroes and then withdrew that freedom.

"Constitutional provisions," wrote Judge Harlan, "adopted in the interest of liberty, and for the purpose of securing liberty... have been so construed as to defeat the ends the people desired to accomplish, and which they had accomplished by changes in their fundamental law."

"It is for Congress, not the judiciary, to say what legislation is appropriate. The judiciary may not, with safety to our institutions, enter the domain of legislative discretion and dictate the means which Congress shall employ in the exercise of its granted power."

"The right of a colored person to use of an improved highway upon the terms accorded to free men of other races, is as fundamental in the state of freedom established in this country, as are the rights which my brethren concede to be so far fundamental as to be deemed the essence of civil liberty."

Despite that dissent, Justice Harlan's brethren continued to make a mockery of the original intent of the Fourteenth Amendment, while Harlan continued to write opinions championing the rights of little people. It was he who supported the constitutionality of the income tax when it was first thrown out by the Supreme Court. And it was he who wrote the Northern Securities Company opinion putting railroads under the jurisdiction of the antitrust laws.

The new Supreme Court justice is a New York corporation lawyer. But if he's anything like his grandfather he will be an important addition to the court.

B-29 APPEASEMENT

Air Force officers are burned up at the way President Eisenhower shrugged off the B-29 incident.

He conceded that the plane was flying over a disputed area when it was shot down by Russian fighters, though we don't recognize Russia's claim to the area. But, by the same token, the open seas can be called "disputed territory" for a hundred miles out from Siberia.

In fact, the Russians claim the Arctic Ocean all the way to the North Pole as Soviet territory. This will invite the Russians to attack our planes and ships if they come within a hundred miles of Siberia. Air Force generals warn. One top general charged privately that it looks as if the President is committed to a policy of peace at any price.

WILL JOE MARTIN STEP DOWN?

Close friends of GOP Speaker Joe Martin say he would like to step aside as House leader of his party when Congress convenes in January.

Martin is discouraged about Republican loss of the House; also, the years are beginning to weigh on the popular, 70-year-old Speaker, and he reminded friends recently, "I am not getting any younger."

However, if Martin steps down as GOP boss in the House of Representatives, it would mean a hot, intra party battle over his possible successor — Congressman Charles Halleck of Indiana, who is not as popular as Joe. To prevent such a fight, friends have been pleading with Martin not to relinquish his leadership, but to stay at the party helm for at least one more term of Congress.

1955 NEW YORKER DELUXE ST. REGIS DESIGNED FOR TWO-TONING — The completely new 1955 Chrysler will be shown publicly on Wednesday, November 17 in 3,200 dealer showrooms coast to coast. New in the Chrysler line for 1955 is the St. Regis hardtop which features a new concept in two-toning. Five new exterior color combinations are offered with interior colors matching or harmonizing. With a new 250-horsepower FirePower V-8 engine, 126-inch wheelbase and new superscenic windshield, combined with dramatic styling and color, the St. Regis offers the utmost in performance and beauty. The new Chryslers will be shown at J. F. Harper and Son garage, local dealer.

1955 Chryslers, with New Styling, More Power, on Display Wednesday

The completely new 1955 Chryslers will be shown publicly on Wednesday, Nov. 17 in 3,200 dealer showrooms coast to coast.

The new models will be displayed locally by J. F. Harper and Son.

"The 1955 Chryslers are totally new from bumper to bumper with a fresh concept of styling that initiates a trend in automotive design," said E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Two V-8 engines — a more powerful 250-horsepower FirePower V-8 in the New Yorker Deluxe and an entirely new 188-horsepower Spitfire V-8 in the Windsor Deluxe — are offered. For 1955 Chrysler offers fully automatic PowerFlite transmission, new PowerFlite range selector on the dash, full-time co-axial power steering, a new double-width-pedal power brake, rigid frame and new suspension, and many other chassis improvements.

The 1955 Chryslers are offered in two lines this year — the Windsor Deluxe and New Yorker Deluxe. Both lines have a wheelbase of 126 inches. The Windsor Deluxe is available in a six-passenger sedan, Nassau hardtop coupe, Newport hardtop, convertible and Town and Country models are available in a six-passenger sedan, Newport hardtop coupe, new St. Regis special two-tone hardtop coupe, convertible and Town and Country wagon. They are available in a choice of 17 solid colors and 26 two-tone combinations.

The 1955 Chrysler's styling stems from clean, low lines; taut, sleek metal work and careful proportioning.

The new superscenic windshield in combination with a slim, gently tapering roof line and increased glass area of all windows lends a light look to the upper body and concentrates its mass low to the ground.

New Chrysler interiors are styled in a fresh, contemporary feeling with a high-style sports car note. New fabrics with completely new colors and textures are combined in impressive contours and patterns. Colors match or harmonize with exterior schemes.

New Imperials Are Offered in Separate Line

The new 1955 Imperials — this year a completely separate and distinct line of automobiles — will be shown publicly in major cities on Wednesday, November 17, which is also announcement date for the 1955 Chrysler line.

Imperial cars are available in two lines for 1955 — the Custom Imperial on a 130-inch wheelbase and the Crown Imperial on a 150-inch wheelbase. Custom Imperials are offered in six-passenger sedan and Newport hardtop coupe.

Every engineering feature designed for luxury motoring is incorporated in the new Imperial.

A new water-control device, designed to help alleviate municipal water shortage conditions, cuts off all flow to garden hoses and lawn sprinklers whenever the city water pressure drops to a critical point. Installed on outside faucets, the valve also snaps closed when fire hose demands reduce the area's water pressure dangerously.

McCarthy Refuses To Kiss Wife in Public on Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) refused to kiss his pretty wife Jean in public—even though it was his "29th" birthday.

The McCarthys were asked Sunday to pose for a "birthday picture" at the National Airport on their return from Milwaukee where the 45-year-old GOP lawmaker had fulfilled a week-end speaking engagement.

They did so willingly until the photographer asked McCarthy to "give her a peck on the cheek."

McCarthy conferred with his wife and replied: "No, not in public."

The photographer had to be satisfied with a picture in which the McCarthys, their heads close together, beamed into the camera.

Asked which birthday he's celebrating, McCarthy reflected for a moment and replied: "I'm 29."

Peabody Reports Gain in Income For Six Months

CHICAGO — Peabody Coal Co. today reported an "encouraging" gain in net income for the six months which ended Oct. 31.

The company reported net income of $156,263 for the period, compared with a loss of $472,015 for the corresponding period of 1953.

For the three months ended Oct. 31 net income was $293,333, compared with a loss of $3,938 for the corresponding period last year.

A stockholders' report said the results "were due principally to the reorganization of the company's major departments ... and to the introduction of efficient operating practices."

The report said the company has concentrated on sales to industrial and utility customers.

The increase in net income was achieved despite lower prices for coal.

Dewey Enters Law Practice

NEW YORK — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey announced formally today that on Jan. 1 he will become senior partner of one of the nation's largest law firms.

He said it is the fourth time he has entered private law practice from political office and "this one I hope will be permanent."

The firm Dewey will head was founded 41 years ago by the late Elihu Root and until two months ago, when Elihu Root Jr. retired, was known as Root, Ballantine, Bushby, Palmer and Wood.

Root's name has been removed from the firm, and Jan. 1 it will become Dewey, Ballantine, Bushby, Palmer and Wood. John Marshall Harlan, who was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Eisenhower last week, was formerly a member of the firm.

Ohio State, Michigan Clash Saturday in Game to Settle Big Ten Race and Bowl Bid

By United Press

Four major conference championships, including the Big Ten title which automatically carries with it a berth in the Rose Bowl, could be decided in dramatic final games this coming Saturday as the 1954 college football season comes to an end for many teams.

The face-to-face clash in the week's national television game of top contenders Ohio State and Michigan at Columbus, Ohio, will settle the Big Ten race — unless Michigan should win and create a title tie that would force a league vote for the bowl bid.

The title in the Pacific Coast Conference, where the Rose Bowl berth already has been clinched by Southern California, will be settled by the long-awaited meeting of UCLA and Southern Cal. Both are unbeaten in league play, but UCLA is barred from the bowl because it played in last season's game.

Oklahoma, barred from the Orange Bowl by a similar rule, can clinch its seventh straight Big Seven crown by whipping runner-up Nebraska. A Nebraska victory — unexpected since Oklahoma has won 46 straight league games — would make the race end in a tie and put the Cornhuskers in the Orange Bowl.

The traditional Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge, Mass., has more than sentiment riding on it this year for Yale can clinch the Ivy League crown by scoring the expected victory. A Yale loss would give Cornell a chance to tie for the title by winning next week.

Wichita can clinch at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference championship by defeating Detroit this Saturday and could then clinch it outright by beating Tulsa next week.

Here's how the other conference races are shaping up:

Southwest—Southern Methodist's 21-14 upset of previously-unbeaten Arkansas not only knocked Arkansas out of the league lead but put SMU in front with a 3-0-1 league mark to Arkansas' 5-1-0. Arkansas has finished its league season, which means SMU can clinch by beating Baylor this week and Texas Christian next week. Or Baylor (3-1-0) could tie Arkansas for the title by beating SMU and Rice.

Atlantic Coast—Duke leads with 2-0-0 but must beat South Carolina (only team to beat Army) this week and North Carolina next week, in order to nose out Maryland, which has finished with 4-0-1 and North Carolina, 3-1-0.

Southwestern—Five teams still have a chance but pacemaking Mississippi (4-1-0) can wrap things up next week by beating Mississippi State. Others still in the running are Georgia Tech, Florida, Georgia and Kentucky.

Southern—West Virginia (3-0-0) clinched title with 20-6 victory over William and Mary on Saturday. Furman is 2-0-0 but also has finished league season.

Skyline—Denver and Wyoming, tied at 5-1-0, both miss league play this week. Wyoming has finished league season, so the title depends

Carrier Mills Beats Rosiclar, 66-47, in Homecoming Game

Retire Sweater In Memory of Player Killed in Accident

The Carrier Mills Wildcats put a winning touch on the school's annual homecoming celebration by soundly defeating Rosiclar Saturday night 66-47.

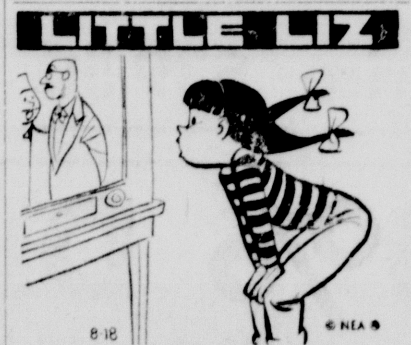

This was the first home game of the season for the 'Cats, playing before a gym-packed homecoming crowd, and the old alumni as well as the student body had plenty to yell for.

Getting away slowly, Carrier Mills trailed until almost midway in the second period, the Wildcats suddenly began to roll and had complete command of the situation by halftime.

Retire Reeder Sweater

Oliver Rollins, who was held scoreless in the first quarter, began to hit in the second and apparently this season it will be "as goes Rollins, so goes Carrier Mills." He put his team in the lead when he came off the board with a rebound.

AMES, Ia.—(NEA)—Max Burkett, top back, has won Iowa State's Athlete of the Week award three times.

on the Denver-Colorado A&M game Thanksgiving Day.

Pitt-Penn State Saturday
In addition to the Harvard-Yale classic, many other "traditional rivalries" will be settled this Saturday. Among the more outstanding are Pittsburgh-Penn State, Oregon State-Oregon, Washington State-Washington, Missouri-Kansas, and a meeting of Notre Dame and Iowa sure to revive memories of last year's "faked injuries" game in which Notre Dame rallied on the last play to tie, 14-14.

In addition to Arkansas, Cincinnati was ousted from the unbeaten list by a 13-9 upset by Wichita. This left only three major teams in the perfect-record group — UCLA, Oklahoma, and Ohio State. A total of 23 small colleges make 26 teams in the select category.

broke into the clear and dribbled the length of the floor to score on a layup. From then on the Wildcats pulled away to victory.

The other Cats, particularly Reid, played good ball once the ice was broken and seven got in the scoring column.

Before game time a brief ceremony was held and sweater No. 42, worn by Jim Reeder last season, was permanently retired and now occupies a place of honor in the school trophy case.

Reeder, killed in an automobile accident just before the opening of school, would have been captain of this year's basketball team. Principal Warren Jennings presented the sweater to Co-Captains Max Berns and Oliver Rollins who carried it to the trophy case. A picture of Reeder sits near the sweater and under the picture are these words—"This number retired in memory of Jim Reeder, Captain of 1954-55 Wildcats."

At halftime the Carrier Mills band performed in an excellent way, marching through various maneuvers on the floor, finishing in a big block C. M. and playing the Loyalty song. The band also performed before the start of the game.

The preliminary game also was a Carrier Mills win, 37-17.

This week end Carrier Mills meets last year's number 1 and 3 teams in the state, travelling to Mt. Vernon Friday and Pinckneyville the following night.

Coach Gene Bland Opens Basketball Practice at HTHS

Basketball Coach Gene Bland started official basketball practice at HTHS today with eight lettermen greeting him at Davenport gym.

Bland, who had assisted Coach Lawrence Caluffetti with the football team, brought four cage lettermen gridders onto the court with him, joining four letter winners who were not out for the grid game.

The group of eight is composed of Gerald Wasson, Don Price, Dave Harrison and Charles Polk, seniors, and David Anglin, Ronnie Williams, Tony Beal and John Wilson, juniors. Polk, Williams, Beal and Wilson were out for football.

Joining this nucleus will be a number of youths, including Joe Dorris, Jack Wright, Don McGowan, Everett Evans and others who saw action as members of the Bull Pups, the freshman-sophomore team, last season.

With Bland in charge of the varsity, Caluffetti will handle the Bull Pup squad.

First game of this year will be a South Seven conference game at Herrin Dec. 3, a Friday night contest. The next night Harrisburg will entertain Eldorado in a non-loop affair.

Eight Teams Finish With Perfect Seasons

SPRINGFIELD — At least eight teams have finished perfect charts and 30 conference crowns have been awarded to cap the 1954 Illinois high school football season.

Only a handful of games remain to be played, most of them on Thanksgiving Day. The biggest match still to come is Friday's collision between East St. Louis and Centralia.

Charleston Eastern, Chenoa, Roxana and Wheaton all have finished their season's work with nine wins and no losses. Abingdon, Arcola, Chillicothe and Macomb chalked up 8-0 records.

East St. Louis has a 30-game winning streak going into the clash with Centralia's Orphans. The Orphans beat nine 1954 foes in a row.

Only major conference crown still to be decided is the Big 12, Two Peoria elevens—Manual and Central—will clash on Thanksgiving Day, the winner pocketing the circuit honors.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

Merle Jones, sports editor of The Southern Illinoisian, wrote in his column of Friday, Nov. 12, a description of two events that should be commonplace in high school athletic circles—evidences of true sportsmanship.

Many times most of us have been guilty of putting more importance on winning than on sportsmanship. We think Jones' column is good and want to pass it on to our readers:

Two Fine Demonstrations Of Sportsmanship Shown

I saw two of the finest exhibitions of the good things about high school athletics Thursday that I have seen in a long time.

The first came at the Benton-Harrisburg football game. Hardly anyone needs much reminding to recall that Ralph Davison, present Benton coach, resigned at Harrisburg last December after seven years as coach. The resignation came under the pressure brought on by a scuffle between Davison and a player.

Davison and Coach Caluffetti of Harrisburg were both under a terrific strain going into the game. Both wanted their teams to be keyed up and yet both wanted to make certain their players would not lose self control and play dirty football. The boys played hard but clean football.

Before the game many Harrisburg friends stopped to chat with Davison. The Bull Dog cheerleaders even went over to see him.

After the game, the Harrisburg players who had just played their hearts out to beat Davison went over to shake hands. One of the boys in the group was Ed Seright, the boy who had the scrap with Davison. So perhaps now the tension is eased and memories of an unpleasant experience can be forgotten by a lot of people.

Then Thursday evening before going to Chester-Sparta game I stopped for another unusual event. The Knights of Columbus of Murphysboro were dinner hosts to the players not only from their home town, but also to the Carbondale team which had upset the Red Devils just a few hours earlier.

"This is the most wonderful thing I've seen since I've been in Southern Illinois," said Carl Erickson, the new SIU athletic director. "Back home in Boston when two strong rivals meet, it is not unusual for 25 people to be seriously hurt from fights and brawls."

Another unusual thing about the dinner was that the guests gave a standing ovation for "Doc" Benigni, the coach of the losing team. Benigni has been greatly upset by the death of one of his players. He has given serious thought to retiring from coaching and it may take a lot of persuasion to get him to continue.

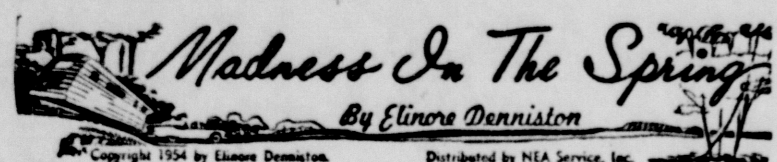

But I will long remember Thursday, Nov. 11, 1954. That was the day I saw Ralph Davison and Ed Seright shake hands. That was the day I saw a losing coach get a standing ovation. That was the day I saw more proof of Grantland Rice's famed lines that it's not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game which counts the most.

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, 26, has left a relatively secure job working for his stepfather, the vigorous, dogmatic Horace Crain, to work as a chauffeur for Wade Daggett, a wealthy invalid. Daggett has bought a trailer and they will just start out and search for adventure. Daggett and Greg both confess that what they seek is hard to express in words. It's like "the other side of the moon." It is early spring, and souls are restless.

On week-ends Greg had mastered the trailer's technique, learned how to couple and uncouple it, how to hoist it up in trailer parks, and how to make the power and water attachments. Now he set out to drive warily with the portable house rocking behind.

There was a panic-stricken moment when he wondered how he got himself into a mess like this. He was headed into the unknown. He did not know what would happen if the old man had a heart attack; he did not know a single human being who would approve of what he was doing. Dimly he was aware that he was not one of the rare people who can stand alone in their opinions, but that, like the majority, he required lots of company.

And spring came down the road to meet them, delicate in green. They left Long Island and rolled into Connecticut. Greg drove slowly. There was no hurry, no goal; only the shining moment. Only now.

Daggett's mind was following companionably along the same path for he asked, "Ever read the letter between Justice Holmes and Sir Frederick Pollock?"

Greg shook his head without taking his eyes off the road. "Holmes wrote Pollock about having discovered for himself one of the great platitudes, that most of life is spent in keeping alive. If a man had enough vitality, he said, he'd approach the whole business with more zest. Functioning, he told Pollock, is all there is. We're stupid not to enjoy it."

By the first night Greg felt like a veteran when he stopped at a trailer park, uncoupled the car, lifted the trailer with jacks, made his pipe connections and plugged in a heavy tension cord for electric current. He had cut down on his practice time by 10 minutes.

Greg's worst failure was as a cook. Only Daggett's reluctance to encounter strangers drove him to swallow the mess prepared with infinite trouble and the best of intentions. He inspected the dubious-looking concoction and groaned. "Stuff looks like poison. I ought to carry along a food taster."

"You are overweight anyhow," Greg said heartlessly and the difficult smile tugged at Daggett's mouth.

After lights were out, Greg fell asleep; and Daggett, whose sleep was a thing of fits and snatches, caught at as he could, lay awake with his thoughts.

He lay looking into the dark. Ever since he had been stricken with paralysis he had liked the dark. It was a comfortable garment to conceal his deformity. The boy did not seem to mind his disfigurement. Daggett had watched for that, every light blazing when Greg made his first appearance. If the younger man revealed shock or disgust it would be no use. You could hire an attendant but you could not hire companionship.

He had tried them all, indignant relatives and paid employees. They had given him nothing that he had not paid for. Until the interval when he had married Cynthia. Somewhere, he supposed, he still bore the scars of that encounter. And he had deserved them. Only a willfully blinded fool would have believed for a moment that a woman like Cynthia could return his love.

Even in the kindly dark he hid his face in the pillow as he remembered how he had hoped for love, and finally—ultimate shame—had begged for it.

"I can't help it," she had cried, and her tears had been worse than her indifference, worse even than her contempt.

His lawyer had protested at the alimony she had demanded but Daggett had brushed aside the protests. "Let her have it," he said wearily. "It's the only thing I ever gave her that she wanted."

This leisurely journey might be satisfying to a sick old man but suppose it was not good enough for a vigorous young one like Gregory Seaver?

The thing that worried Daggett was the idea that Greg might get bored and restless. So far it had been better than he dared to hope, an easy fellowship without awkward restraint. Not that the boy talked much, but that was not because he disliked Daggett; he was all tied up inside, a bundle of diffidence and restraint and a distrust of the world.

Daggett looked back at the day he had spent, turning the hours over in his mind as a miser might finger his gold pieces. If you have only a little time you might as well make it count. He moved on his side, lifting his helpless arm and leg clumsily. He heard Greg mutter in his sleep and no longer felt alone. Tomorrow there would be a new road. Anything might happen.

Illness of Actress Jean Arthur Cancels Entire Run of Play

CHICAGO (AP)—The entire run of George Bernard Shaw's play "Saint Joan" was cancelled today because its star, Jean Arthur, was in a "state of complete exhaustion."

The play had been postponed for a week once before because of Miss Arthur's condition.

Her doctor, Manuel Weiss, said he had ordered her to get a "complete rest for at least a month."

The play, which had been scheduled to show in St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and Portland, Ore., before opening in New York next April, was sponsored by the Producers' Theater.

It was reported that Producers might lose $200,000 on the play's cancellation.

Fire at Loda

LODA, Ill. (AP)—Fire early today swept a building which housed a poultry firm, a packing company and a beer distributorship at a loss estimated at more than $50,000.
